About

A non-binary cat-like, fish-like being made of light who tries to help everyone and anyone they can. Really joviale and good at talking, this character has lived a lot and has done a lot.

History

Session 1 : Made a settlement for new Era of Civs players in a lake and started to manage everyone while becoming a blacksmith.
Asked to find a better place to live, in the middlze of the ocean, because they had the water go helping them out.
At the end of the session, was completing a prophecy for the water god.

Session 2 : Helped around in Rapture, their civ's newly based city, organising people, helping them survive while leveling up their Blacksmith level.
Asked a fire god follower to move their shrine out of the water god's domain.
At the end of the session, they would try to contact the other group of people venerating thze god of water, but would fail and die before respawning back at rapture.

About

A healer that was supposed to be kind and warm-hearted, but instead the role was slap on a crazy maniac that constantly having thoughts of killing apostles and gods for Rapture. Buttttttt the idea was scrapped when Golden_Pearl betrayed Rapture. Now it's all about peace and quiet.

History

A member of Rapture and The Endless, nothing much to say.
